

Nunu White

Hello, my name is Nunu White and I am running as an independent to be your next UCLA External Vice President. As someone who entered in the midst of the pandemic, I understand what it's like to be a student and confused as so many things are happening and feel like there's nothing you can do, but await the next email. To prevent the student body from being in this position, I aim to: Strengthen Student-Faculty Relations as it is important for faculty to know the students they're representing and make way for better transparency and Enhance the Student Voice through installing a student vote and/or say in certain processes. To ensure the entire student body is accounted for, the initiative I call "Small in Representation, Small in Population" focuses to aid in the specific needs of various communities on campus who have either been historically underrepresented in their campus population and/or in USAC spaces. With your support, we can work towards a campus that has students as an integral part in the decisions it makes and in the direction it goes in, while making sure no community is lost or unheard in our journey towards a better, more inclusive future. "Power To The Students" is the motto that drives us and with your vote, we can work towards obtaining it. Feel free to follow @nunuforusac on Instagram or email nunuforusac@gmail.com for more information or message if you have any questions. Thank you!!!
