

Alexis Molden

Hello! My name is Alexis Molden and I am a first year Political Science major at UCLA. During my first quarters here, I've had the opportunity to participate in USAC as a part of the fellowship for the External Vice President's office and have been a part of other student government and advocacy projects. As a minority student, I have understood the issues of diversity and inclusion and the different priorities every individual needs. Because of my experiences and outlook on opportunity, I am the perspective that UCLA needs in order to address their gaps and great need for improvement in enabling success for all students. As the General Representative at UCLA, I can begin to form a university where we are prepared and comfortable to combat the difficulties faced beyond our time here at the university. I will make it my duty to ensure that we thrive in the opportunities to Jumpstart our career and professional goals, prioritize our Mental Well-being to adhere to different groups and individuals, and incorporate Liveable Wages for our campus jobs. Every individual should be represented in their needs and I want to make sure it is done equitably. I have already begun to dedicate my career to advocating for necessary resources for students, so please allow me to continue my journey towards opportunity and vote for me, Alexis Molden, for your General Representative. And don't forget to follow my campaign instagram! @votealexismolden #MoldenisGolden

Platform

Jumpstart

- I plan to create a networking platform to enable students to form connections with career-aligned professionals and initiate workshops and career planning activities to better prepare students for their future

Mental Well-being

- Mental health is essential because of its importance in establishing self-care and expanding one's potential
- I plan to make counseling services affordable and diverse in the resources it provides by adhering to various identities such as racial groups, sexual identities, cultural/religious members and other identifying communities

Liveable Wages

- Students need well-paying jobs to provide for themselves and/or pay the fees of this institution
- By working alongside other representatives, I will work to make campus jobs more obtainable and increase the minimum wage in order for students to afford the expenses of attending UCLA

Experiences

External Vice President Office

- I was an active fellow for the External Vice President's office where I participated in organizing and collaborating with my peers on advocacy projects and am now an active member

Student of Color Conference

- I have had the opportunity to connect with students of color across all UC's and discuss/plan of the ways we as students can help and advocate for ourselves and our needs

Student Lobby Conference

- I was a delegate with other UCLA students that proposed advantageous budgets and policies to Senators and Assembly Members to advocate for UC students in different areas of issues and discrepancies
